suppose that at Osterno you see no value upon a bear skin," he said after a pause.

"We have many," admitted Etta. "But I love fur or trophies of any description. Paul has killed a great deal."

"Ah!"

"Yes," answered Etta, and the music rose again. "I should like to know," she went on, "upon what assumption you make use of a word which does not often annoy me."

"I have a good memory, madame. Besides," he paused, looking round the room—"there are associations within these walls which stimulate the memory."

"What do you mean?" asked Etta, in a hard voice. The hand holding the album suddenly shook like a leaf in the wind.

De Chauville had stood upright, his hand at his mustache, after the manner of a man whose small talk is exhausted. It would appear that he was wondering how he could gracefully get away from the princess to pay his debts elsewhere.

"I cannot tell you now," he answered. "Catinra is watching us across the piano. You must beware, madame, of those cold blue eyes."

He moved away, going toward the piano, where Maggie was standing behind Catinra's chair.

"I was merely wondering whether we were to count you among our rifles tomorrow, Miss Delafield. One never knows what ladies will do next. Not ladies—I apologize—women. I suppose it is those who are not to be birth ladies who aspire to the proud name of women. The modern woman—with a capital W—is not a lady, is she?"

"She does not mind your abuse, monsieur," laughed Maggie. So long as you do not ignore her she is happy. But you may set your mind at rest as regards tomorrow. I have never left off a gun in my life, and I am sensible enough not to begin on bears."

De Chauville made a suitable reply and remained by the piano talking to the two young ladies until Etta rose and came toward them. He then crossed to the other side of the room and engaged Paul in the discussion of further plans for the morrow.

It was soon time to dress for dinner, and Etta was forced to forego the opportunity she sought to exchange a word alone with De Chauville. That astute gentleman carefully avoided allowing her this opportunity. He knew the value of a little suspense.

During dinner and afterward, when at length the gentlemen came to the drawing room, the conversation was of a sporting tendency. Bears, bear hunting and bear stories held supreme sway. More than once De Chauville returned to this subject. Twice he avoided Etta.

In some ways this man was courageous. He delayed giving Etta her opportunity until there was a question of retiring to bed in view of the early start required by the next day's arrangements. It had been finally settled that the three young ladies should drive over to a woodman's cottage at the far end of the forest, where

$500 REWARD FOR WOMEN

WHO CANNOT BE CURED.

So uniformly successful has Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription proven in all forms of Female Weakness, Prolapsus, or Falling of the Uterus, Leucorrhoea, that, after over a third of a century's experience, it is now the worst cases of these distressing and debilitating ailments, Dr. Pierce now feels fully warranted in offering to pay $500 in making such an offer; no other remedy has such a record of cures on which to base such a remarkable offer.

IT STANDS ALONE.—The "Favorite Prescription" stands alone, as the one and only remedy for these distressing common forms of weakness, possessed of such positively specific curative properties as to warrant its makers in proposing, and binding themselves to forfeit, as we, the undersigned proprietors of that wonderful remedy, hereby do, to pay the sum of $500 in legal money of the United States in any case of the above diseases in which after a fair and reasonable trial of our treatment, we fail to cure. No other medicine for the cure of woman's peculiar ailments is backed by such a remarkable guarantee; no other medicine for woman's ills is possessed of the unparalleled curative properties that would warrant its manufacturers in making such an offer; no other remedy has such a record of cures on which to base such a remarkable offer.

Therefore, insist on having Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and turn your back on any unscrupulous dealer who would insult your intelligence by attempting to foist upon you some inferior substitute, under the plea that "it is just as good."

Insist on having the article which has a record of a third of a century of cures and which is backed by those willing to forfeit $500 if they cannot cure you.

In cases attended by a leucorrhoeal drain a solution of Dr. Pierce's Lotion Tablets may be used conjointly with the use of the "Favorite Prescription." They are sold by all druggists, or sent post-paid to any address, on receipt of 25 cents in stamps. Send 31 cents in stamps for Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. luncheon was to be served. While this item of the programme was arranged De Chauville looked straight at Etta across the table.

At length she had the chance afforded to her deliberately by De Chauville.

"What did you mean?" she asked at once.

"I have received information which, had I known it three months ago, would have made a difference in your life."

"What difference?"

"I should have been your husband instead of that thick headed giant."

Etta laughed, but her lips were for the moment colorless.

"When am I to see you alone?"

Etta shrugged her shoulders. She had plenty of spirit.

"Please do not be dramatic or mysterious. I am tired. Good night."

She rose and concealed a simulated yawn.

De Chauville looked at her with his sinister smile, and Etta suddenly saw devils elsewhere.

"I cannot tell you now," he answered. "Catinra is watching us across the piano. You must beware, madame, of those cold blue eyes."

He moved away, going toward the piano, where Maggie was standing behind Catinra's chair.

It was soon time to dress for dinner, and Etta was forced to forego the opportunity she sought to exchange a word alone with De Chauville. That astute gentleman carefully avoided allowing her this opportunity. He knew the value of a little suspense.

During dinner and afterward, when at length the gentlemen came to the drawing room, the conversation was of a sporting tendency. Bears, bear hunting and bear stories held supreme sway. More than once De Chauville returned to this subject. Twice he avoided Etta.

In some ways this man was courageous. He delayed giving Etta her opportunity until there was a question of retiring to bed in view of the early start required by the next day's arrangements. It had been finally settled that the three young ladies should drive over to a woodman's cottage at the far end of the forest, where the resemblance which Paul had noted between this man and the grinning mask of the lynx in the smoking room at Osterno.

"When?" repeated he.

Etta shrugged her shoulders.

"I wish to speak to you about the Charity league," said De Chauville.

Etta's eyes dilated. She made a step or two away from him, but she came back.

"I shall not go to the luncheon tomorrow if you care to leave the hunt early."

De Chauville bowed.

"The princess knows Russian?" said Catinra suddenly.

She was standing near the dressing table, where she had been absent attending to the candles. She wheeled round and looked at Maggie, who was hospitably sitting on a low chair near the fire. She was sorry for the loneliness of this girl's life. She did not want her to go away just yet. There was another chair by the fire, inviting Catinra to indulge in those maiden confidences which attach themselves to slippers and hairbrushes.

Maggie looked up with a smile which slowly ebbed away. Catinra's remark was of the nature of a defiance. Her half diffident role of hostess was suddenly laid aside.

"No, she does not," answered the English girl.

"Excuse me. I saw her understand a remark I made to one of the servants. She was not careful. I saw it distinctly."

"I think you must be mistaken," answered Maggie quietly. "She has been in Russia before for a few weeks, but she did not learn the language. She told me so herself. Why should she pretend not to know Russian, if she does?"

Catinra made no answer. She sat heavily down in the vacant chair.

"I did not mean to hate her. I did not want to," she said. "If it had been you I should not have hated you."

"Are you not judging rather hastily?" suggested Maggie in a measured voice which heightened the contrast between the two. "I find it takes some time to discover whether one likes or dislikes new acquaintances."

"Yes, but you English are so cold and deliberate. You do not know what it is to hate—or to care."

"Perhaps we do," said Maggie, "but we say less about it."

"Less?" she laughed. "Nothing—you say nothing. Paul is the same. I have seen. I know. You have said nothing since you came to Thors. You have talked and laughed, you have given opinions, you have spoken of many things, but you have said nothing. You are the same as Paul—one never knows. I know nothing about you. But I like you. You are her cousin?"

"Yes."

"And I hate her!"

Maggie laughed. She was quite steady and loyal.

"When you get to know her you will change, perhaps," she said.

"That seems hardly likely, considering that I have known her since we were children."

Catinra shrugged her shoulders in an honest if somewhat mannerless refusal to discuss the side issue. She returned to the main question with characteristic stubbornness.

"I shall always hate her," she said. "I am sorry she is your cousin. I shall always regret that, and I shall always hate her. There is something wrong about her—something none of you know except Karl Steinmetz. He knows everything—Herr Steinmetz."

"He knows a great deal," admitted Maggie.

"Yes, and that is why he is sad. Is it not so?"

Catinra sat staring into the fire, her strange, earnest eyes almost fierce in their concentration.

"Did she pretend that she loved him at first?" she asked suddenly.

Receiving no answer, she looked up and fixed her searching gaze on the face of her companion. Maggie was looking straight in front of her in the direction of the fire, but not with eyes focused to see anything so near at hand. She bore the scrutiny without flinching. As soon as Catinra's eyes were averted the masklike stillness of her features relaxed.

"She does not take that trouble now," added the Russian girl, in reply to her own question. "Did you see her to-night when we were at the piano? M. de Chauville was talking to her. They were keeping two conversations going at the same time. I could see by their faces. They said different things when the music was loud. I hate her. She is not true to Paul. M. de Chauville knows something about her. They have something in common which is not known to Paul or to any of us! Why do you not speak? Why do you sit staring into the fire with your lips so close together?"

"Because I do not think that we shall gain anything by discussing Paul and his wife. It is no business of ours."

Catinra laughed—a lamentable, mirthless laugh.

LEFT HER CHILDREN

To Warn Another Mother of Danger,
Little Ones Perish.

Akron, Ohio, Feb. 20.—While Mrs. Amos Hefflinger was at the home of a neighbor warning another of the danger to her little son, who was skating on the Ohio canal, three of her own children were burned to an unrecognizable crisp. A fourth child and Mrs. Hefflinger's ten-year-old brother, who bravely attempted a rescue of the children, were probably fatally burned. Mrs. Hefflinger was absent but ten minutes, but within that time the house ignited from an unknown cause and was destroyed.

FAVORABLE DECISION

English Court's Opinion on the Gaynor-Greene Case.

Washington, Feb. 20.—The department of justice has received a copy of the decision of the judicial committee of the English privy council in the Gaynor-Greene case. The decision was favorable to the United States government and will result in a reopening of the extradition proceedings in the Canadian courts against Messrs. Gaynor and Greene who are technically charged with obtaining money under false pretenses.

Aged Brothers Starve.

Philadelphia, Feb. 20.—A case of starvation and exposure which resulted in two deaths has been revealed by the police, who were called upon to investigate a mysterious death in Germantown, a suburb. They found Sarah Smith, aged sixty-two years, dead; Benjamin Smith, seventy years, a brother, dying, and Louis Smith, sixty-four years old, another brother, in a serious condition. There was no fire in the house nor was there any food to be found. Benjamin Smith was removed to a hospital, where he died last night, and the other brother was taken to the almshouse.

Possibility of a Bomb Taking Off the Whole Romanoff Outfit Makes

For the Present Grand Duke's Remains Will Be Interred at Moscow.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 20.—It has now been definitely decided that the remains of Grand Duke Sergius will not be brought to St. Petersburg for the present, but will be placed in a temporary receiving vault of the cloister of the Choudoff monastery, to await the completion of the alterations now in progress in the Romanoff mausoleum in the cathedral of St. Peter and St. Paul, where the permanent interment will occur, among the tombs of his ancestors. On account of lack of space in the mausoleum it was decided last year to henceforth bury only rulers of the dynasty in the old mausoleum and a new sepulchre in the new wing of the cathedral is now being built for other members of the imperial family. This, however, is not the only reason for the decision not to bring the remains to the capital now. Even Governor General Trepoff has recognized the fact that no precautions can furnish an absolute guarantee of immunity against an act of terrorism; and a great state funeral, where ancient custom requires that the emperor be followed by the Romanoff family assembly and follow the coffin on foot, a single bomb might wipe out the dynasty. regard for the personal safety of the sovereign also has led to the decision that the emperor shall not go to Moscow to attend the funeral of his uncle. It is possible that no members of the imperial family will be present on that occasion except those who are now within the walls of the Kremlin. Grand Dukes Constantine and Paul probably will represent the emperor at the service. Constantine is personally popular, never having participated in the politics of the court, preferring to devote himself to the sciences and arts and to his work as the head of the military academy. He went to Moscow immediately on receipt of the news of the assassination of Grand Duke Sergius.

Constantine is personally popular, never having participated in the politics of the court, preferring to devote himself to the sciences and arts and to his work as the head of the military academy. He went to Moscow immediately on receipt of the news of the assassination of Grand Duke Sergius.

So grave is the danger of a repetition of the Moscow tragedy that several of the grand dukes have not stirred out of their palaces since the murder, and instead of going to Tsarskoe Selo to attend the requiem there, they have participated in special services held in the chapels of their own palaces. This was the case as regards the Grand Dukes Vladimir and Alexis. A special regulation also was held in the winter palace that Governor General Trepoff might attend. General Trepoff is known to be under sentence by the fighting organization of the Social Revolutionists, and so far as can be ascertained, has not left his quarters in the palace since the assassination of Grand Duke Sergius.

AN INTERESTING CONTEST

Mr. Hemenway's Chair Has Attraction for Many.

Indianapolis, Feb. 20.—The scramble to succeed Senator-elect Hemenway in congress is growing interesting. "Jack" Osborne, a member of the Republican machine in the First district, has been here to see Governor Hanly as to when a special election will be called. Incidentally it may be stated that Osborne and the machine are backing George A. Cunningham of Evansville, district chairman, and it is understood they would like to have the election take place early in May. Osborne thinks there is nothing to the race but Cunningham, although Colonel Frank B. Posey of Evansville and John Brady of Princeton, are vigorous candidates. Brady is regarded as a good dark horse proposition, as many believe there will be such a fight in Evansville between Cunningham and Posey that an outsider will be chosen. Osborne, it is said, would like to succeed Cunningham as district chairman if the latter is lucky enough to land Mr. Hemenway's seat. Mr. Hemenway will tender his resignation to Governor Hanly to take effect at noon on March 4. The afternoon of that day he will be sworn in to succeed Vice President-elect Fairbanks in the senate.

Senator Martin Hugg, law partner of District Attorney J. B. Kealing, has pushed through the senate two important election bills. One is intended to purify the primary elections in Indianapolis, and by so doing to take the control of the organizations from the hands of the machines existing in each party. The other measure is intended to purify the elections throughout the entire state by providing punishment of the vote buyer as well as the seller. Senator Hugg stole a march on the machine politicians of Indianapolis by pushing the primary bill through before they had a chance to get next to what it meant. He seeks the repeal of the Joss primary law introduced and put through four years ago by Fred Joss, then a member of the senate and one of the wheel-horses of the Bookwalter machine, which has since been demolished. This primary law never placed any restraint on the corruptionists, as it made it optional with the precinct committeemen to determine whether or not there should be a direct primary or nominating convention. The latter method was usually selected and the machine ran things to suit itself until it was routed in the last municipal election. The machine men are now working to defeat the bill when it reaches the house.

The provisions of the Hugg primary bill are interesting to politicians, being a departure from all former laws on the subject in this state. Both parties shall hold primaries at the same time and place. Except in the case of the election of precinct committeemen, there shall be no separate primaries. The bill is so drawn as to prevent the old organizations from perpetuating their control, as the county officials are given powers of supervision. The secrecy of the ballot is to be maintained and heavy penalties are provided for illegal voting. Opponents of the bill are pointing out that it is unfair to both parties to compel them to hold their nominating primaries the same time and at the same place, and further that it should be optional with the workers as to whether or not the nominations shall be by direct vote or convention. An effort is also being made to show that Senator Hugg has provided for an extravagant system of making nominations. He has refused to accept any amendments, however, and is confident the bill will pass the house. His bill to punish the vote seller as well as the buyer has practically become a party measure with the Republicans, who realize that there is a demand throughout the entire state for election reform. His bill provides for a fine of $50, to which imprisonment for six months may be added and disfranchisement for a period of ten years.

Moscow Police Puzzled.

Moscow, Feb. 20.—The assassin of Grand Duke Sergius remains persistently silent. His identity has not yet been established, and although the police have been investigating diligently, they have been unable to gather up the threads of the plot or find any clues to any possible accomplice. The assassin's papers and clothes offer no means of identification, and his pass evidently was forged and appears never to have been used. Photographs have been taken to be dispatched to all the universities, but if the assassin is actually a workman and not a student, the police may find themselves utterly at sea.

Took His Mother's Part.

Cleveland, O., Feb. 20.—Will Avis, a farmer, was shot and instantly killed by his sixteen year old step-son at his home at Wickliffe, a few miles east of Cleveland Sunday. Avis and the boy's mother had been quarreling and the boy took his mother's part.

NEARING THE END

Indiana General Assembly
Has but Two More
Weeks of Life.

A VERY GOOD RECORD

The Fact That Very Few Bills Are Being Passed Is Focused Upon as Proper Procedure.

It Will Be Surprising If Legislators
Get Through With Business
Now Pending.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 20.—The present session of the general assembly will be adjourned sine die two weeks from today and from the outlook now it will have passed fewer bills than any of its predecessors in the last ten years. This, however, is regarded by many as a good record, in that there are already more laws on the books than are enforced.

It will be surprising indeed if the senate and house get through with the business before them. Of the two the senate stands the better show of getting out on time as it has been rushing matters to better advantage than the house. Lieut. Gov. Miller, presiding officer of the senate has kept his members on the jump most of the session. The house, being twice as large as, as a matter of course, more difficult to handle and considering the circumstances Speaker Cantwell has made a good record.

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR MILLER.
[Who is receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter into his happy home.]

Beginning tonight the senate will hold night sessions and the house will probably follow its example. The codification commission's municipal code bill will probably be the special order in the senate tonight and it promises to be one of the interesting features of the session.

The senate has killed the Benz bill to license peddlers. A bill introduced by Senator Carl Wood exempting all state, municipal, county, gravel road, drainage and street improvement bonds from taxation was passed. Several senators opposed it on the ground that while the bonds would sell for higher figures if not taxed that the state would be the loser.

While no final action was taken the senate as good as killed Senator Davis' bill prohibiting any state, municipal, county, township or judicial official from accepting a railroad pass by postponing it for a week. It will be too late then to get it through.

Senator Davis made a strong plea for it, pointing out the growth of the pass evil among public officials, but it was apparent that a majority of the members are in favor of retaining these so-called perquisites.

On motion of Senator Lyons the senate authorized Senator Hogate to send a telegram of congratulation to Lieutenant Governor Miller, his wife and their two-day-old daughter, who was termed the "daughter of the senate." Secretary Hogate sent the following message: "The senate sends hearty and sincere congratulations to you, to Mrs. Miller and Miss Miller, the latter for being so fathered and so mothered."

Speaker Cantwell is trying to push matters more rapidly in the house, which is far behind the senate in transaction of business. There is a big stack of house bills on his desk that have not been handed down on third reading. A bill providing for the admission of widows of Spanish-American and Philippine war veterans to the state soldiers' home at Lafayette; another to include the reporter of the supreme and appellate courts on the state board of printing have been passed by the house.

Several new bills were introduced, among them one by Representative Mountz for an inheritance tax. This is the bill Senator Wickwire pushed through the senate before learning that such measures should originate in the house. Representative Cravens introduced a bill to provide for agricultural experiments in various counties by Purdue university.

Cleveland, Tenn. W. K. DETERS.

For over fifteen years I have suffered more or less from Impure Blood. About a year ago I had a boil appear on my leg below the knee, which was followed by three more on my neck. I saw S. S. ## DESTRUCTIVE FLAMES

Indianapolis Suffers a Million Dollar Fire Loss.

Indianapolis, Feb. 20.—Fire which broke out shortly before 10 o'clock last night in the wholesale millinery establishment of Fahney & McCrea gained such headway and spread so rapidly that, when two hours later the flames were under control, the entire south half of the square bounded by Louisiana and Georgia, Meridian and McCrea streets, was a mass of broken, twisted ruins at a loss approximating $1,200,000.

Falling walls, explosions and the cracking of plate glass added to the spectacular effect of the scene. Showers of sparks, clouds of smoke, and even blazing planks, were whirled up into the air by the force of the heat and wind, the fiery deluge descending upon adjoining buildings and time and again threatening the Union Station with destruction. Neighboring buildings required constant attention to prevent a further spread of the flames.

BECAUSE the city council decided to give the police board two weeks time to fill the vacancy on the police force caused by the resignation of Marvin Deputy, the Democrat, apparently having no faith in the ability of the police board to take care of the responsibility, said: "In the meantime (during the two weeks), citizens, keep your hands on your pocket books, look all your doors, stay in tonight and load up the old family musket, lest you be the victim of marauding visitations." How will Peter Senseback, a democrat, relish that sort of a comment on his efficiency as a police man? He was chosen by the police board to fill the vacancy until a regular appointment can be made.

Fire Close To Strauss.

The big fire at Indianapolis Sunday night that swept away over a million dollars worth of property, an account of which is given in another part of this paper, came uncomfortably close to the Strauss-Millinery Company (of which Simon Strauss, formerly of this city is the manager). The building along the south side of the one occupied by the Strauss Company was burned. Three wholesale millinery stores were among the businesses burned out, Fahney and McCrea, Griffith Bros. and the Muir Millinery Company. Mr. Strauss telephoned Nathan Kaufman here today that they suffer no loss whatever.

Back to Old System.

Today all the grocers of our city went back to the old system of delivering groceries. The new system was discontinued Saturday night after two weeks trial. It is said by some that if all who indicated in the start that they would enter into "Lee's Delivery System" had done so and supported it as they should it would have been a remunerative business for Mr. Lee and saved money for the grocer. Some of those who were patrons of the System, believe that the plan is a correct one but as one said it could not be run on "hot air" so the only thing to do was to dissolve the association.

Smallest Couple.

Major Winner and his wife, said to be the smallest married couple in the world, arrived last evening and will be at the Gold Mine all week. He is 36 inches in height and she is 35. They are interesting talkers and converse freely with visitors at the store. The Gold Mine was crowded, especially this afternoon, and everybody in the city will want to see these midgets before they leave.

W. W. Fitch, traveling salesman for the Moore Push Pin Company of Philadelphia, is in the city for a short stay. He is well known here as a popular and deserving young man and as his line is a genuinely useful twentieth century article that is sure to take with enterprising merchants, it is probable that Mr. Fitch's visit here will be an agreeable one as our merchants are wide awake. It is understood that Mr. Fitch will leave for the south within a few days.

NEW PASTOR

Greeted By Large Audiences At First Baptist Church.

Rev. Austin B. Conrad, the new pastor of the First Baptist church, arrived Saturday night accompanied by Mrs. Conrad and their three little girls. Splendid audiences greeted him Sunday both morning and evening and both sermons were excellent and made a deep impression on his hearers. He is indeed a strong preacher, most affable gentleman and surely this church was fortunate to secure him as pastor. The outlook for a successful and pleasant pastorate is very encouraging. The unusually large audiences Sunday and the spirit of harmony and good will that prevail are sure indications of large results. Not only the Baptist congregation but the people generally extend a cordial welcome to Rev. Conrad and family.

As an evidence of how Mr. Conrad was regarded in Little Falls where for five years before coming here he was pastor, we quote the closing paragraph of an article in the Little Falls Evening Times, relative to his departure from that city for Seymour. The Times says, "Mr. Conrad is a young man. It is plain to everyone, particularly after his sermon of last night, that his life means much to humanity. His good words reach countless hearts. He is a marked man among men. The line he is drawing on the canvas of time is no dim, worthless scratch. It is a fine, broad, sure stroke and an indispensable addition to the picture which all mankind is making."

WOMAN'S SYMPATHY.

Is Proverbial—The Women of Seymour No Exception.

How much we owe to the sympathetic side of womankind. When others suffer they cheerfully lend a helping hand. They tell you the means which brought relief to them that you may profit by their experience. Read the testimony given here by a Seymour woman.

Mrs. John Owen, corner of Beech and Jackson streets, says: "I suffered dreadfully from back and kidneys and there were pains in my back and kidneys and there were pains in my head. I doctored and doctored but received no permanent benefit. My kidneys were out of order, the secretions were annoying and my rest was much disturbed at night. I found my heart was being affected as time went by. On learning of Doan's Kidney pills sold by C. W. Milbous, I procured a box. Although I had little expectation of finding relief, I was more than gratified when I found they promptly benefited me, relieved me of pain in my back, strengthened the kidneys and banished the annoyance from the secretions."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster—Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name Doan's and take no other.

OLD AGE.

Depends Not Upon Years. But Upon Vital Force.

A Great Discovery To Ward Off Old Age.

In Seymour lately there has been a great deal of discussion in regard to old people. Some at 50 years call themselves old, and really appear so; while others at 70 years seem active, vigorous and young.

A reporter of the REPUBLICAN happened in the store of the W. F. Peter Drug Co. the other evening, and this subject was brought up. Said Mr. Peter: "It is a fact, and we see it illustrated every day right here in Seymour; it is not years, old age does not begin at any set time, but it is loss of vital force that makes a person old. Weakened digestion, thin blood and poor circulation soon start functional power and vitality on the wane, and then the symptoms of old age quickly appear. You know a man is as old as he feels. 'On the other hand,' continued Mr. Peter 'that old feeling may be warded off, and I wish every person in Seymour who feels old, whether they are so in years or not, would try the great discovery, Vinol. I know that it has vital principles which will in a natural manner strengthen digestion, assimilation and all the functional powers, send rich, red blood coursing through the veins, and give new life to every organ of the body, and this is what makes the old feel young again.'"

Mrs. H. W. Avery of Norwich, N. Y., writes:

"At the age of 89 I felt the need of a tonic, something to strengthen and build me up. For a year and a half I have taken Vinol, and I have found that it brings vigor and life to the aged as nothing else will."

Mrs. Sarah J. Windrom (cousin to the late United States President, Zachary Taylor), 429 1/2 West Erie street, Chicago, who is 76 years old, says Vinol is a godsend to old people. So also does Mr. George L. Jones, Sr., of 19 Perrine Ave., Jersey City, and A. J. Baker of 713 Locust street, Evansville, Ind.

Vinol repairs worn tissues, checks the natural decline and replaces weakness with strength. It is an ideal body builder for old folks.

We promise you that Vinol is, first of all, agreeable, because it contains no fishy oil. Second, that it is a genuine cod liver oil medicine, containing all the medicinal curatives and strength-making elements taken direct from fresh food livers; and third, we will return your money if it does not do exactly what we claim for it. W. F. Peter Drug Co.

"The Minister's Son."

A quiet wholesome play "The Minister's Son," has been booked by Manager J. E. Bartlett for Wednesday night, February 22. This beautiful pastoral play has won its way into the hearts of theatre goers and Seymour people should show their appreciation of such a high-class and refined play by giving it a good patronage. Mr. W. B. Patton is certainly at his best in his part of "Simon Ray" pleases all by his simplicity, his kindly humor and his well modulated voice. Come out and hear him on Wednesday night.

A Surprise.

On Sunday afternoon Feb. 19th a number of relatives and friends gathered at the residence of C. D. Lamb on west Brown street to celebrate his 64th birthday. Mr. Lamb was taken completely by surprise. A splendid dinner was spread, consisting of four courses, of which all partook heartily. The guests repaired to the parlor where they indulged in friendly chat and good jokes. After listening to good music all departed to their respective homes, wishing Mr. Lamb many happy returns. AN OBSERVER.

THE MAGIC BOTTLE.

A Trick That Will Teach a Little Lesson in Physics.

Here is a trick that will prove a puzzle to those who are not pretty well up in physics.

Take an ordinary dinner plate and fill it with water, then a small empty bottle, and assure the spectators that you are wizard enough to pour water through the solid bottom of the latter.

Pass the bottle around that all may see it perfectly empty and dry; then, having thrust a stick into it and held it to the fire until it is very hot—too hot to hold in the bare hands—stand it, mouth downward, in the plate of water. At the same time pour a tablespoonful of water on the upturned bottom, as if you were beginning to fill it in that way.

Each time you do this the bottle will be seen to retain more water, and as a corresponding amount will have disappeared from the plateful from which you are dipping it, it will easily appear as though the water had passed through the bottom of the bottle.

Of course the fact is that the water really rises from the plate with the contraction of the air as the bottle cools.

THE GIRAFFE.

Hard For It to Browse on the Ground, So It Lives High.

"You can always tell giraffe country at a glance," said Captain Manel, the big game hunter. "A place of low bushes or no bushes or trees at all is sure not to have any giraffes in it. Always look for low trees with abundant leafage before you look for the giraffes. No matter how fertile the ground may be or how full it may be of fine juicy grasses and other vegetation that would furnish abundant food for the giraffes, you won't be likely to find them unless there are trees. The reason for this is that it is very nearly as hard for a giraffe to browse on the ground as it would be for a man to stoop over without getting on hands and knees and pick something up from the ground with his mouth. There is no more awkward and painful sight than to see one of these beautiful beasts feeding from the ground. It straddles its immense forelegs out sideways till they look as if they were being stretched like india rubber. Then it slowly and clumsily lowers its body, jerking its forelegs spasmodically to keep its balance. That is why a giraffe is not eager to browse on low growing vegetation."

Novel Fishermen.

The boys who live near a body of water containing perch, bullheads or catfish can make large catches by means of simple devices.

An old jug, well stoppered, makes an excellent assistant. After emptying the jug and corking it securely take it to the place where you want to fish and, making a line fast, bait your hook and carefully lower the jug in the water.

A tempting worm on a hook below a jug is liable to result in a bite, and then the jug commences to bob about in an amazing manner. If the fish is large it may tow the jug around the water for awhile, but a heavy jug will soon tire out even a big fish, and then you can haul in the captive.

If jugs are not obtainable, large bottles are effective, although they do not offer the resistance the heavy jug does and, unless dark colored, are hard to see on the water.

To Extract Flower Essence.

Any little girl may make perfumery in the following manner: Place a layer of the flowers in a clean earthen pot and over them a layer of fine salt. Repeat the process until the pot is filled, cover closely and place in the cellar. Forty days afterward strain the essence from the whole through a crape by pressure. Put the essence thus expressed in a clear bottle and expose for six weeks in the rays of the sun and evening dew to purify. One drop of this essence will communicate its odor to a pint of water.

Wanted the Trousers.

Little Antony, aged three, was at Sunday school in his first pair of trousers. A picture of several little angels was before the class.

"Antony, would you like to be a little angel?" asked the teacher.

"No, ma'am," replied Antony after a careful inspection of the picture.

"Not like to be an angel, Antony? Why not?"

"'Cause, ma'am, I'd have to give up my trousers."—Little Chronicle.

A Trip to Egypt.

One of the latest musical comedies is "A Trip to Egypt" which comes to the Seymour opera house on Friday evening, February 24. This play is acted by a company of very clever people and a fine chorus. ### Divorce Suit.

Mrs. M. Mackey and daughter, Mrs. Lona Engle, of Shelbyville, were at Columbus last week to look after witnesses in the divorce case of Henry Engle against Lona Engle. The suit has been brought in Jackson county and will be tried at Brownstown.

Engle is 70 years old and married Miss Mackey, who was then 18, eight years ago. They were residents of Ohio township, Barren, now county then and separated after living together four years. Engle moved to this county and his wife went to Shelbyville to live with her mother. Mrs. Engle intends to fight the case and is looking up evidence.

Revival Meetings.

The revival services at the Holiness Christian Church on the Sabbath were well attended. Saturday evening Rev. Taylor preached from the text, Numbers 32, 23 "Be sure your sin will find you out." On Sunday morning his theme was, Sanctification and the steps leading to it, as found in 1 Corinthians 13. Seventeen souls knelt at the altar, several of whom received definite victory. In the evening his text was Prov. 29, 1 "He that being often reproved hardeneth his neck, shall be suddenly destroyed and that without remedy." Six souls responded to the invitation, some of whom found Jesus as their personal Saviour. Services will be continued every night in the week at 7:30, every afternoon except Monday at 2:30. Come early and enjoy the meetings.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address: F. J. ## One Million Dollars

For a New Stomach

"It is Reported That M. Rockefeller Has Offered This Amount" Says Mr. Peter of The W. F. Peter Drug Co. Our Local Druggist.

"I've read about Mr. Rockefeller's offer," said Mr. Peter of the W. F. Peter Drug Co., to our reporter, and I wouldn't be surprised if it were true. I know that hundreds of Seymour people would be willing to part with all they possess if they could only find some relief from dreaded Dyspepsia. They, like John D. Rockefeller, are too busy to worry about the condition of their stomach. It is said that Mr. Rockefeller allowed his dyspepsia to run from bad to worse until it is now incurable. That's just what will happen to some of our fellow townsmen if they don't get after their trouble now. There are no new stomachs for sale you know, but there is a cure for old ones. We are selling a tablet that will make old stomachs new or we'll pay for the medicine. Yes—They're Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets and we sell more of them than all other dyspepsia cures combined.

"Do you have many come back?" was asked Mr. Peter. "No less than one third of one per cent. that's proof that they're good. Why do we guarantee Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets and not others?—Simply because we know what they are composed of and what they will do. Confidence you may call it, but when you have sold as many cures for Dyspepsia as we have and see how many are failures, you can understand why we loan our name to Rexall and endorse its formulas. Read the testimonial from a civil war veteran. It's only one case out of the thousands that Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets have cured!"

"I have suffered from acute dyspepsia for the past eight years and could find no relief from doctors or medicine until I procured a box of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets. These I am pleased to say gave me immediate relief. They do all that is claimed for them and are easy and pleasant to take."—Captain Geo. W. Cook, 102 Mullett St., Detroit, Mich.

Anyone who is suffering from Dyspepsia or stomach trouble, loss of appetite or flesh, can secure a large trial box of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets for twenty-five cents from W. F. Peter Drug Co., who will refund them their money if dissatisfied.

The people of Seymour have the opportunity of selecting fuel from the largest variety of high grade coal ever placed on sale in the town. THIS COAL IS STORED IN OUR YARDS AND MAY BE INSPECTED AT ANY TIME BY ANY ONE.

All winter we have been advertising a longer list of better coals than any other dealer in this vicinity has to offer. Is it not more satisfactory to have a large number of different grades from which to select the kind of fuel you want, and at prices that are, if anything, lower than can be obtained elsewhere?

An "All Around" Coal

Is Black Creek lump from the Linton fields. We are recommending it to everyone who wants a coal that is a first class burner, a good heater, and that will cook and bake to perfection.

The price of Black Creek lump is surprisingly low, and our stock is large enough to supply all demands for it. All other grades are higher priced, but if you prefer them we will gladly fill your orders.

Simply telephone your orders and our delivery wagons "will do the rest."

The more Magazines there are, the more
Indispensable is The Review of Reviews

"Indispensable." "The one magazine I feel I must take." "The world under a field-glass." "An education in public affairs and current literature."—these are some of the phrases one hears from noted people who read the Review of Reviews. The more magazines there are, the more necessary is the Review of Reviews, because it brings together the best that is in all the most important monthlies of the world. Such is the flood of periodical literature that nowadays people say that the only way to keep up with it is to read the Review of Reviews. Entirely over and above this reviewing section, it has more original matter and illustrations than most magazines, and the most timely and important articles printed in any monthly.

Probably the most useful section of all is Dr. Albert Shaw's illustrated "Progress of the World," where public events and issues are authoritatively and lucidly explained in every issue. Many a subscriber writes, "This department alone is worth more than the price of the magazine." The unique cartoon department, depicting current history in caricature, is another favorite. The Review of Reviews covers five continents, and yet is American, first and foremost. Men in public life, the members of Congress, professional men, and the great captains of industry who must keep "up with the times," intelligent men and women all over America, have decided that it is "indispensable."

Weak Stomach.

A weak stomach is most frequently caused by the overworked and exhausted nervous system.

The power that runs the stomach is the nerve force sent to it from the brain through the nerves. When the nerves are weak or exhausted the supply of energy is insufficient and the action of the stomach is impaired, and results in imperfect digestion—dyspepsia.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine increases nerve force. It strengthens and builds up nerve tissue, gives vigor to the nerves and muscles of the stomach; this produces a healthy activity. Nervine allays the inflammation, heals the membranes, and makes the stomach strong and healthy. There is nothing that so quickly gives energy to the whole system as Restorative Nervine.

"I can't say enough for Dr. Miles' Nervine. I don't know what it will do for others, but it certainly cured me of stomach trouble, and now I am as well as I ever was. Two physicians failed to relieve me, but in three or four days after taking Nervine I was much relieved. Four bottles made me a sound man, at the cost of $4.00."

JAMES E. HART, Detroit, Mich.
Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails, he will refund your money.

CREATED A RIOT

Police Broke Up Crowd of Russian Revolutionists in New York.

New York, Feb. 20.—Police reserves were called out last night to disperse a crowd said to be sympathizers with the Russian revolutionary party. Eight men were arrested, all giving foreign names, and charged with parading without a permit, collecting a crowd and holding an unlawful meeting.

The trouble started when two police-men came upon a crowd cheering and applauding a speech made by one of their number. The police-men were unsuccessful in dispersing the people, and called for the reserves. It was said that a red flag was being waved, and later a sergeant of police who assisted in the raid made this statement: "Inflammatory and revolutionary literature."

This man's name was given as Albert Argenter, and the police found on him a subscription list for the Russian revolutionaries, said to have been issued by the pro-revolutionary committee for Russia. All the men arrested said they were tailors, and protested against being taken into custody.

Argenter demanded to know if this city was to be like Moscow and honest workmen denied the right to meet and denounce tyrants.

"You can meet, all right," said the sergeant in charge at Madison street, "but not in the street where the meetings might turn into a riot and a lot of people get broken heads. Obey the law and we will not molest your meetings."

DOWN TO BUSINESS

Congress Cutting Out All but Absolutely Necessary Legislation.

THE TIME DRAWS NEAR

Expiration of the Present Congress So Close at Hand That Expedition Is Required.

One of the Most Important Matters Is the Conference on the Statehood Bill.

Washington, Feb. 20.—Nothing but absolutely necessary legislation is the order in the house for this week. This legislation, so far as can be indicated in advance, will consist of the completion of the naval appropriation bill today, and consideration of the river and harbor and sundry civil appropriation bills, a program which will occupy the week.

As the time draws near for the expiration of the congress, the legislative days will be gradually lengthened to correspond with the amount of work that still remains unfinished, and must be completed in order that the government may be carried on. There remains in committee the last of the appropriation bills—the general deficiency, which is being held back for emergencies.

The statehood bill is to be considered in conference during the week, but there is nothing to indicate that an agreement will be reached before the session is in its last moments.

The public buildings bill is to be a matter of contest during the week between the committee on rules and those members of the house who are enthusiastic in its support. A combined movement on the speaker has been organized for the purpose of securing a rule for the passage of this bill. Other measures which are knocking at the door of the committee on rules for "special orders" include the bill for government participation in the Jamestown exposition.

The Senate Program.

The senate began the week with consideration of the motion to appoint conferences on the joint statehood bill. The general understanding is that this action will prevail and that the bill will go to conference. In case the committee recedes from the important senate amendments, a sharp contest probably will ensue. The Swayne impeachment trial was resumed today at 2 o'clock, and it is now anticipated that the termination of the proceeding will not be deferred for a great while. The prosecution will introduce only one or two more witnesses, and it is announced that the defense will not call a great number. The postoffice appropriation bill will be taken up early in the week, and this and other supply bills will be kept as well to the front as possible during the entire week.

HARPER NOT HOPEFUL

formed on him next Wednesday. According to the statement of the patient's physicians Dr. Harper's condition remains unchanged. At a conference with the professors of the university before his removal to the hospital Dr. Harper said he believed he was the victim of cancer and that his chances of recovery were slight.

The Colorado Contest.

Denver, Col., Feb. 20.—Hearing of testimony in ex-Governor James H. Peabody's contest for the office of governor closed last evening. Briefs will be submitted to the contest committee this week by both sides, and the committee is required under the rules adopted by the general assembly to present its report and recommendations on March 1 to Lieutenant Governor McDonald, president of the joint convention of the legislature, by which the contest will be finally decided.
